

Bath

A quintessentially British experience

Bath has been a popular destination for tourists for over 2,000 years. People would flock from all over Europe to bathe in the natural hot springs in the Roman bathhouse and visit the temple of Sulis Minerva. Then in the 18th century, the spa again was the focal point that attracted people to build the magnificent city we see today. It's no surprise that this jaw-droppingly beautiful place is a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

On top of its rich history, there is so much to do and see in Bath. Walk around and explore the Georgian buildings or join a river boat trip down the River Avon. The small-town environment provides a safe and friendly place to relax in while having fun. It won't take you long to see why Bath is regarded as one of the most beautiful cities in the UK.

A secret slice of paradise

Few people know the UK's best-kept secret. Torquay, situated on the south coast of England, is a stunning resort getaway for those who want to get some sun. Torquay boasts a micro-climate with warm weather, soft sand and beaches lined with tropical palm trees.

Torquay is the perfect place to relax while immersing yourself in English. For those looking for entertainment, jump on the English Riviera Wheel to see the sights. Test your skills at Jungle Journey Adventure Golf or check out the aquatic life at the zoo and aquarium.

This unexpected paradise is a contrast to the rest of England. Take exciting boat trips across the bay or indulge in retail trips to the naval city of Plymouth.
